1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem. It is shown that the problem is of great importance in the theory of the differential equations of the second order.
The results of the investigation are given in the form of theorems and lemmas.

2. In the second part of the paper the author presents a detailed analysis of the case when the coefficients of the differential equation are continuous functions of the independent variable.
It is shown that in this case the problem is solvable and the solution is unique. The results of the investigation are given in the form of theorems and lemmas.

3. In the third part of the paper the author presents a detailed analysis of the case when the
discontinuous functions of the independent variable.
It is shown that in this case the problem is
of the investigation are given in the form of theorems and lemmas.

4. In the fourth part of the paper the author presents a detailed analysis of the case when the
piecewise continuous functions of the independent variable. It is shown that in this case the problem is solvable and the solution is unique.
form of theorems and lemmas.

5. In the fifth part of the paper the author presents a detailed analysis of the case when the
piecewise continuous functions of the independent
problem is solvable and the solution is unique.
The results of the investigation are given in the form of theorems and lemmas.

6. In the sixth part of the paper the author presents a detailed analysis of the case when the
piecewise continuous functions of the independent
problem is solvable and the solution is unique.
The results of the investigation are given in the form of theorems and lemmas.
